November 2007

Principal's Message

As we move from October to November, I have many thoughts that run through my mind. I know that soon we will have an opportunity to use the freedom to vote to express our views to elected officials and to elect those who we feel will represent us the very best. This privilege and opportunity is very dear and important to me. I hope that all those who are eligible take advantage of this great right that we have. I hope that we are teaching our children that this is something that is very important by the example that we give to them. Our children will soon be the leaders of our cities, states, and nation so I want them to realize the importance of the great democracy that we live in. This country means a lot to me. I hope that we are instilling patriotism in our children. On November 6th elections will be held and I hope everyone gets out to vote.

Also in November, we will be holding a patriotic week. I encourage each of you to take the time to talk to your students about the greatness of our country and encourage students to participate in all of the activities that take place during the week. We will be honoring veterans during this week. As a veteran myself, I feel that it is nice to be honored but even more important we must help children to know and understand that freedom comes with a price. The importance of this freedom cannot be stressed enough. We must all do our part to make sure that we continue to have the freedoms that we hold so dear.

This is a great time of the year. Teachers are able to instruct without too many interruptions. I have seen many good things taking place here at school. I know that we are blessed by having many very dedicated teachers with the desire to see every student successful. Speaking of dedicated teachers, I would like to express appreciation for Mrs. Beckstrand who will not be returning to school and will be taking disability. Mrs. Beckstrand has worked hard and long for the last several years through much pain and discomfort. She has been willing to give her all when her body was not able to sustain her as she desired. The doctors have told her that as much as she did not want to that the time has come when she needed to leave teaching for her own well being. I just want everyone to know how much we have appreciated her hard work and goodness as a teacher and as a person.

I want to thank all of you who were able to come to our parent teacher conferences and who are working closely with your student's teacher to make sure that they succeed in school. Also I would like to thank those who made our book fair a success. We are able to improve our library with the money earned. We have a great school and that is because of all those who are part of our community (parents, students, teachers and patrons). Thanks!!
